

Link Community Development is working to transform education for children and communities across impoverished rural areas of Ethiopia, Ghana, Malawi, Rwanda and Uganda through innovative, low-cost and replicable models. We envisage a world where every child in sub-Saharan Africa has access to a quality basic education. In over 25 years, we have helped nearly 2 million students in over 3,000 schools access a better quality education.

We work directly with government staff, district education officers, communities and schools by providing support and training for more effective teaching, improved school management and increased community engagement.

A child whose mother can read is 50% more likely to live past age 5. We know how quality education transforms lives and communities, helping people to escape poverty.
